Dimmu Borgir, Devil's Path (Re-Recording)

Thousand different paths So many sterile ends I chose the Devil's path

Never shall the sun kiss my face And caress me with it's burning light For I dwell in the shadows And sleep side by side with death

In dark desire I embrace the whore Giving her an escape From an unworthy life

For with the appearance of the Fallen Angel

(chorus:) I serve Satan I serve Darkness

I am a prince among the damned As I've been for eternity A monarch in a dark paradise Cursed by life and the living

Oh tremble not my immortal heart Though you beat in the shadows of death Eternal life is the blessing And I shall rule for another thousand years

I blew out the light Abandoned Jesus Christ Christian life forms' grief's We buried their belief's

Waiting for their saviours rebirth The dawn was soon to come The dawn would soon be gone

I am a prince among the damned As I've been for eternity A monarch in a dark paradise Cursed by life and the living

There in that formless abyss was I made A partaker of the mysteries averse