Dinosaur Jr., Repulsion

I feel your eyes upon me How should I act today To feel so unsure always Give up or now keep on this way The silence taps my elbow It's good, least that's what she said I could run but I stand and greet it Boredom won't starve as long as I feed it The world drips down like gravy The thoughts of love so hazy Everyone's ideal of fun Repulsion Try to wake up, try to break it open It's not quite the right feeling I'll just keep on hoping The girls, they smile and say hello The darkness drags me back home It's hard to face it Still waiting, still alone The world drips down like gravy The thoughts of love so hazy Everyone's ideal of fun Repulsion Try to wake up, try to break it open It's not quite the right feeling I'll just keep on hoping The world drips down like gravy The thoughts of love so hazy Everyone's ideal of fun Repulsion Repulsion Repulsion
