Dio, Born On The Sun

There's a crack in the rainbow There's a hole in the sky You believed in something Now it's just a lie, yeah

No jokes from the jester Not a laugh from the clown And your world is upside down, yeah

You can hide in a circle It's a way to survive Be another number At least you'd be alive

Or you can ride with the gypsy He can take you to hell And the answers screaming In a voice you know so well

You - you're made of fire Never higher You were made to run

You - you're burning higher You've got the fire You were born on the sun

So take a walk with a wild one It's the way that I've found You can turn it upside down