

Disciple, After the world

You break the glass, try to hide your face Recorded lines that just will not erase And buried in your