

Disturbed, One More Minute

I'm going back to where I came from
So far away, but not so far from home
Where I lay my head down by the sea
I'm going back to where'd go
So far away, but not so far from home
Where I'd rest, where I'd lay so peacefully
But by the way,
I want a break, and want to put this stress aside
But above all things I want to lay by the Oceanside
The ocean waves, no other way, get away
Well I'm finding!
Oh no, my daily worries want to drift away, Fine!
Dying and trying just to find some sort of piece of mind
Now's the time, to get away, I'm going away!
No other place to go, I've got to get away, let's get away! Away...
One more minute, the beaches San Diego,
One more minute!
One more minute, the beaches Mexico
One more minute!
One more minute, we kick it back poolside
One more minute, and we're down by the Oceanside
One more minute, one more minute, one more minute!
So far away, and dowdy on the beach
I want to clear my head and bake it in the warm sunshine
Want to relay relaxation
With the horizon straight away
And a ring around my arm from a long day, of making angels in the sand
Pacifico in my hand!
No other place to go, I've got to get away, let's get away! Away...
The sunshine in my eyes, and the flamenco in the skies
The only way, you'll ever know, is to go, is to go!
Shed the light all day...
