

Divine Ascension, Evermore

Making waves, waiting for a lifeline
For the taking is an essence as pure
Though we stay we're bleeding from the inside
A world of torment that we should not endure

Weight of the world lies in expectations
Lay awake with what tomorrow may bring
Set alight burning for the insight
With dreams to soar on the breath of the wind

We have gone the distance
We have walked upon your shores
We hope you remember
What all the pain was for
When there's silence
Evermore

There were days we lost the motivation
Those were the days when the darkness set in Here we strive to know the beast to slay
To hold at bay until we lay
Evermore

Spent our days striving for perfection
Here we learnt that only strength will survive
If you ask it's a question of obsession
Break us down but you won't take us alive

We have gone the distance
We have walked upon your shores
We hope you remember
What all the pain was for
When there's silence

We have gone the distance
We have walked upon your shores
We hope you remember
What all the pain was for
When there's silence

Want to tame this world of our creation
In the end when the darkness sets in
He who wanders far shall surely find
His heart's desire before his time evermore
Oh you are not alone
Far from home
I'm not afraid evermore
We will strive to catch the beast to slay
To make them pay until we lay evermore
