

Dizmas, Time Well Spent

Let's count the time we've spent here
It might just last forever Though few might understand this,
we live for one
And it might seem confusing
But we won't fail to do this
And as you seek our motives, we just have one How long you've shown you amplify our calling Now we will always stay here and seek the mind that's sleeping

Our lives are on the line for you We'll keep on fighting!
We'll keep on moving on!
Moving on!

It's time to sing our music
You know the people lose it It's clear but they confuse it,
we live for one
Now that we sing this song for you That's only half of what we do
And now the show is over, we might save one
It's true, will you?
New life is in the making
We hope you had your fun here and now your soul is waking

I can see you've played the games Like you're stuck in all the chains
We will never be the same, the same Now it's time that you make a change
Let's go far and out of this place
Let's leave while leaving a trace
