

Dog Eat Dog, True Color

Gave you all that I had
I let you come and go as you please,
never once did I ask for anything in return,
except to have what was coming to me.
You broke a friendship that was based on trust
and tried to pull the wool right over my eyes.
I can't see how such a lying , cheating son of a bitch,
could have ever been a friend of mine.

Are you so blind that you can't see,
look at what you've done to me.
All of this time I called you my friend,
now I see your true colors showing in the end.

Good times and bad times took a turn for the worst,
but looking back on it now,
wonder why somehow I could ever hitten all the hurts.
Took something from me that you can't give back,
it was yours as much it was mine,
but in the end I think you've got what was coming to you,
I got love you got nothing but time.

Are you so blind that you can't see,
look at what you've done to me.
All of this time I called you my friend,
now I see your true colors showing in the end.

Left you to your own devices
and I see trust is just a word you take for granted,
you never had the balls to stand and fight me.
Cause you know that my feet have been firmly planted.
I always had your back we'd find a way out you know,
the two of us could never be kept down.
I never understand the path you've chosen,
but I will not back down.
