

Dogfight, Why Should I

No one is home. I am knocking, but there is no one to let me in.
I've tried before and I'll try again.
Can't forget this.

Why should I say to you I'm sorry,
if you're the one to blame.
Why should I tell you I was wrong,
if you've turned your back on me?

Blame me for all of my sins. After all I am just human. Survived before and once again, I'm back to feeling nothing.

I know, I've felt I've changed my ways.
You're still the one to blame. I hate these games you always play.
Just step away.