

Dogwood, Mycro

I walked outside one day
The sun wouldn't look my way
Only darkness
I felt alone yet safe with you
I felt the promise to be true
Swollen teardrops drowned

The wind was blowing down
I felt his presence all around
A voice came through black thunder clouds
Tell me you're scared

The rain kept drumming fast
{Such guilt}
The devil tried to make it last
But to no avail

I prayed and cried that night
I hope that God can make this right
Just like he always did

I know I am your son
My life has only just begun
To praise your holy name
We praise your holy name

Now, not alone
This can be made alright
You know my life
I'll give it back to You

I know we are your sons
We know our lives have just begun
To let the world know where we stand
We stand with you
