Dogwood, There's Room For Everyone

Hey mister, where are you going to come in from?
Is everyone just as scared?
Push me away, you don't know me or want to
Your separation from yourself makes you feel good

Don't run so fast, it doesn't last
It's not your fault you stay away
I've only myself to blame
I can't change those yesterdays
So let's right the wrongs
Everyone belongs

All of the hatred and phobias are stemming
From gifts that you didn't earn
{You don't deserve}
Like little children defining the outcast
You insure they'll never return
How will you learn?

Don't think so fast, they never ask
You stay inside, they stay away
We've only ourselves to blame
For the mass-production of shame
And we right the wrongs
Everyone belongs

There's room for me and you
There's room for me and you

We've only ourself to blame
We can't change those yesterdays
So let's right the wrongs
Everyone belongs
