

Dolly Parton, He's Everywhere

HE'S EVERYWHERE
Writer Porter Wagoner
Copyright 1972

He walks in my mind like the shadow someone speaks his name and he appears
I can see his face in total darkness oh he's everywhere
He left a mem'ry that lives with me a mem'ry of how it used to be
And I remember all the things we used to share oh he's everywhere
He waits in the corners of my mind and in the stillness of the night he walks around
Sometimes the memory's so real I think he's really there oh he's everywhere
He left a mem'ry that lives with me...
Oh he's everywhere
