

Dolly Parton, Love With Me

I look at you and I see something special
I feel something special something that's rare
I you feel the same way if you're looking at me
I know that could be a love we could share
Won't you come and love with me shelter your love in my castle of dreams
We'll find in each other the things that we need won't you come and love with me

We'll sing us a love song the songbirds would envy
A song that the angels would be proud to sing
We'll say with our hearts what no poet could capture
Say with our eyes what no artist could play
Won't you come and love with me shelter your love in my castle of dreams
We'll find in each other the love that we need won't you come and love with me
Won't you come and love with me...
