

Dolorian, Nails

The song consists of two vocals being done at the same time.
(One whispered in the foreground and one spoken in the background)

(whispered voice)

Cold,
it's stone cold,
still I hear,
where mornings will never touch me again,
I falleth,
I falleth.

(Spoken voice in the background)

You,
culmination of vermin,
I don't need you,
mornings will never touch me again,
you,
culmination of vermin,
I don't need you,
mornings will never touch me again,
you,
culmination of vermin,
I don't need you,
mornings will never touch me again.