

Don Gibson, May You Never Be Alone

Like a bird that's lost its mate in flight I'm alone and oh so blue tonight
Like a piece of driftwood on the sea may you never never be alone like me
I believed the lies you told to me when you whispered dear I worship Thee
Now here am I alone and blue all because I loved no one but you [guitar - whistle]
I gave up my friends I left my home when you promised you'd be mine alone
Now you're gone our love could never be may you never never be alone like me
