

Don Henley, You Better Hang Up

Out here in the country where the weather gets so mean
She thinks about the places that she ain't
And though she's hotter than an oven just to fill your lovin' cup
If a man answers, you better hang up
You better hang up You better hang up You better hang up You better hang up
You're from New York City where they don't say no prayers
Anything goes and nobody cares
And though you're hotter than an oven just to fill her lovin' cup
If a man answers, you better hang up
You better hang up You better hang up You better hang up You better hang up
