

Don't Look Down, To All Our Saviors

We're falling down and suffering
We're at our loss and slowly sinking
We're going down, going down
Destruction moves in and surrounds
It's closing in, are you listening?
Please just listen

I'm not quite sure
Are we in over our heads?
The water's turning red

To all our saviors
The world is burning in your hands
All our saviors
The world is burning in your hands

I am not proud of falling short
What's in store? Am I destined for anything, anymore?
Defend on calling out your name
Whats it take? Are you listening?
Are you breaking? Cause I'm not breaking

And I'm not quite sure,
Are we in over our heads?
The water's turning red

To all our saviors
The world is burning in your hands
All our saviors
The world is burning in your hands

Cause this illusion made will always haunt me
With a thought that I brought in
You left me with a leading sense of longing
Ends up in demands
But I won't break down

All our saviors
The world is burning in your hands
To all our saviors
The world is burning in your hands
In your hands ...
