

Don Williams, Pressure Makes Diamonds

Well we've had our troubles, we've had our hard times
Were some might have stumbled, we've always survived
Sometimes love weakens, when the chips are all down
But what we've got together gets stronger somehow (bridge)

Pressure makes Diamonds much harder than stone
And they only get finer as each day goes on
We've been through some bad times but we made it somehow
'cause if pressure makes diamonds, our love's a diamond by now
Well we know the feelin' when the world closes in
We've been there before, love, and we might go again
The road may get rocky life may get hard
But the whole world together can't tear us apart
(repeat bridge)
