

Donna The Buffalo, If You Only Could

If you only could see what you have got
If you only could be who you are not
If you only could love the things you know
If you only could let the spirit flow

Chorus:

Walking talking too far from the light
Living breathing in colorless black and white

If you only could feel the strength in dreams
If you only could hear the voice of truth
If you only could get up and stand out in the center
If you only could stop thinking only of you

Bridge:

Hey there you
What's your claim
While you're out there
Running in circles you don't understand

Hey this world's got you down
Hey this world's got you down
