

Donots, It's Over

Let me down, you let me down
And i can't say that i'm surprised it's Everything that i've seen from you recently
Put me off, you put me off, yeah
You dumped me and kept me waiting
Soon enough you'll come crawling back to me

Thought i could depend on you
Just like you depend on me now
But that was not to be

Taking back the things i didn't say
It's over, it's over
Breaking up, i gotta break away
I can see through you
Taking back the things i didn't say
It's over, it's over
Breaking up, i break away

Turn me down, you turn down and
You leave me to count my bruises
Friends don't come as easy as your enemies
So shame on you, yeah, shame on you
For shutting me out like you do I
Should have known you'd bite the hand that feeds you

Thought i could depend on you
Just like you depend on me now
But that was not to be
So much for your attitude
So much for your cheap apologies
They will never do

Taking back the things i didn't say
It's over, it's over now
Breaking up, i gotta break away
I can see through you
Taking back the things i didn't say
Believe me, it's over now
Breaking up, i break away

And don't come crawling back to me
It's over, it's over
Crawling back, right back to me

Taking back the things i didn't say
It's over, it's over now
Breaking up, i gotta break away
I see right through you
Taking back the things i didn't say
It's over, it's over
Breaking up, i break away -hey
Taking back the things i should have said
It's over, it's over now
Breaking up, i gotta break away
I can't count on you
Taking back the things i didn't say
Believe me, this is the end
Breaking up, i break away - alright!
