

Donots, The Right Kind Of Wrong

Can't get my feet back on the ground
Can't sleep, the silence is way to loud
Can't think of anything nice to say
Can't say I want it any other way
Don't call, don't speak, just leave me be Cause you wouldn't quite like me when I'm angry
Don't heal my wounds, they're all I got
Don't pull my teeth, can't you just leave them to rot

No matter how long it takes
I will be waiting here
Whatever you say
I just don't wanna hear
No matter how wrong I am
I will be waiting here
For the right kind of the wrong
I'll be right here

I'll cut the heart out of my chest
I'll trade the handshake for the fist
I can't be the life of the party
Spare me your smile
Your kindness kills me

No matter how long it takes
I will be waiting here
Whatever you say
I just don't wanna hear
No matter how wrong I am
I will be waiting here
For the right kind of the wrong
I'll be right here

No matter how long it takes
I will be waiting here
Whatever you say
I just don't wanna hear
No matter how wrong I am
I will be waiting here
For the right kind of the wrong
I'd rather be right here
