

Donots, You Know

Sitting on a ticking time-bomb
It's amazing how you keep on smiling
I see you falling from a roof-top
Do you still think that it feels like flying?

Did you forget about you
And the place called home?
Did you forget about yourself?

Don't you know
You badly need a time-out
Don't you know
You need to be alone
Don't you know
A way out of the crowd
Don't you know?

Sleeping in a pressure chamber
Yet you don't wake up to the situation
Dancing in the line of fire
When you had better run for your salvation

Do you need the tension?
Do you need the friction
Wasting all your energy
Don't you Know?
