

Donovan, Ramblin' Boy

as I linger on this windy road my suitcase in my hand I think on how some hours ago together we did stand bewildered tears lay in your eyes as you tried to make me see that if you gave your love to me I could leave so easily cos I am called the ramblin' boy like the wind that is so free yes I am called the ramblin' boy so ramblin' boy I'll be

I turn my collar to the cold I pull my cap down low I sing this song I wrote for you wherever I may go so I linger on this windy road I hope your tears are dry don't you never forget this ramblin' boy no matter how hard you try cos I am called the ramblin' boy
like the wind that is so free
