

Dopamine, Just Like The Sun

And this hotel doesn't feel like home There's so much empty space now between us and i feel like im letting you down We've come so far but now we're moving backwards recovering old ground again

I know, when your moment comes you'll shine just like the sun
Don't, turn your back on everything that you've become

This station
It feels so cold
Surrounded by the empty dreams of others
And now the summer time is wasted but I'm alive Got these happy faces to get me by
And I thought it was obvious to you

I know, when your moment comes
you'll shine just like the sun
that you've become

I know, when your moment comes
you'll shine just like the sun
that you've become

I know, when your moment comes
you'll shine just like the sun
that you've become

I know, when your moment comes you will shine just like the sun
Don't, turn your back on everything
