

Dottie West, I Heard Our Song

Hmm I heard an old song today and it took me to yesterday
Back to the time when your love was mine now the song lingers on in my mind
Stirring mem'ries that I'd left behind the time of my life when I was your wife
Now the song I've heard was our song today
Today the strangest thing happened and I just had the right to tell you about it
Remember the guitar that you sent little Jimmy on his birthday
Well he sure is learning to play it
Today he played a song just for me but I had to turn away so he wouldn't see me cry
Cause you see he was playin' our song the one that used to be his lullaby
I heard our song my dear and it brought you so close so near
Though years have gone by it still made me cry when I heard our song today mhm
