

Dottie West, I Never Once Stopped Loving You

The nights were dark and long I spent a million all alone
But I never once stopped loving you
My world was cold and still my dreams lay unfulfill
Oh but I never once stopped loving you
I'll never once stop believing we'd love again the way we used to do
And today when you came back my patience was rewarded
Cause I never once stopped loving you
[steel]
I could have loved another but I chosed to wait and suffer
For I never once stopped loving you
I prayed to God to guide you until I could be beside you
No I never once stopped loving you
I'll never once stop believing...
