

Dottie West, No One

No one is worth all the hurt you've put me through
No one is worth all the tears I've cried for you
No one is worth all the heartaches that I knew
No one is worth this much no one but you
No one but a fool would love so hopelessly no one but a fool would ask for misery
And no one but a fool would be so deceive
No one would still love you no one but me
But no matter what you do I'll keep on loving you forever mhm
No one is worth all the hurt you've put me through
No one is worth this much no one but you