

Dottie West, Wear Away

Wear away wear away I'm so afraid that time may wear away your love someday
If water can wear away the hardest rock if --- can wear away the strongest lock
Then I can't help but wonder could it ever be
That time could wear away your love from me
Wear away wear away I'm so afraid that time may wear away your love someday
Now our love is as solid as the hardest rock
And our hearts bound together with the strongest lock
And still I can't help but wonder could it ever be
That time could wear away your love from me
Wear away wear away I'm so afraid that time may wear away your love someday
