

Dover, Late At Night

LATE AT NIGHT

I woke up late at night and everyone's staring at me so I thought that was just a dream but hey! I could feel their legs so I went up higher than you've never been I waited 'till the sun went down but I'm still here

And if you turn on the lights they'll see the gas
and if you turn on the lights they'll know about my plans

I could see the trees and I know they also saw me we all were going back and forth like we moved with the wind it was not bad but listen, do you know who I am?
if you ache I lose weight I rather be fat again

and if you turn on the lights
they'll know about my plans it's just a matter of time that they are back
