

Down By Law, The Greenest Field

so where is all this going does anybody know shed a thousand tears but what have we got to show crime and hate and war they're still there all around giving our hearts so long are we screaming without a sound are we making a difference or wasting our time
can you tell me?
Well now I'm getting older will I ever see the peace on earth that starts with you and me well if all the world's a stage then I've got my part to play
can you tell me?
Is it the greenest field don't you think it's kind of sick to lead a pointless life call yourself a different kind but do you even try well I'm not pointing my fingers at you there's just so much that we can do and all you can do in life is try to light up the sky
