Downface, No Regrets

Laying down in a bed he lived in Sinking into a dying state Can't forget the time, the room, the place Notice the hand as it slowly makes it's way I Have no

No room for the dreams I've learned to hate I Have no

He's old, he's leaving a lonely place

I Have no

I can still seem to hear him say

I Have no

I Have no Regrets

IHaveNoI Have No Regrets

Thinking as if it were illusion

The love I've learned to embrace

Telling me it is all over

The promise. My strength

I Have no

No room for the dreams I've learned to hate

I Have no

I'm old and leaving this lonely place

I Have no

If you listen forever you'll hear me say

I Have no

I Have no Regrets

IHaveNol Have No Regrets

I know

I know the answer lies in my head

No one can ever take that from me

I'm lost

I've lost my head again

With the cross looming up before me

My lover's eyes below Me

Yet I have no regrets