

Downhere, Reconcile

We've both been mistreated, no wish to repeat this You're sorry - you wonder
If ever I'll show you grace again

My vision is tunneled,
my motives, oh so rageful
But the mirror I'm reading
Says "forgive, and then forgive again"

Though there's a wrong
A grudge will tear us down
We wait too long, the air turns stale
Will we reconcile?
It's all we're needing... reconcile It's all we're needing to mend these broken smiles

Oh miserable me, miserable you
The walls erected between us
You keep your side, I'll not intrude

And we'll get used to this denial Turn our heads and wait a while Much too long, the air turns stale
Will we reconcile?
