

Dr. Hook, I Need To Fall In Love Again

You took my heart in your hand and you just walked away
Didn't even say goodbye
Now I'm standing alone let the truth be known I'm not ready to be free
It's not easy for me, getting by

I need to fall in love again
Fill up this emptiness within
But every time I try to begin
I can't find the place to start
You still hold my heart

I hurt inside nowhere to hide, I'm just hanging around
I swear the clock slows down at night
Next time I hope when I'm wanting to love she won't walk away
I'll know what to say

I need to fall in love again
Fill up this emptiness within
But every time I try to begin
I can't find the place to start
You still hold my heart

I need to fall in love again
Fill up this emptiness within
But every time I try to begin
I can't find the place to start

I need to fall in love again
Fill up this emptiness within
But every time I try to begin...

(c) Unknown