Draconian, On Sunday They Will Kill The World

On a Sunday they will kill the world And on Monday they will cry and shout Then on Tuesday they will just try out What will happen to the burning crowd

And you hearing this song You will smile, and think that Im wrong Im a friend you killed in your mind Im four kids and you didnt find

On a Sunday they will kill the world

On a Sunday they will kill the world

And you will think of me But Im gone and then III see In the sky for me sits one, too What they did, some people like you

On a Sunday they will kill the world
