Dramarama, Train Going Backwards

Oh no, there you go again with all your useless conversation Don't cry, don't think I don't know that we could use a short vacation

Leap for me Sweep for me Fill my crater Try me later

So long, I'll be gone before the dawn of time spent on my mission Too late, have a date with patron saint of waiters who audition

Sleep with me Weep with me Fly like nice birds

How long before you feel that pain How long before you heal that pain How long before you see that train going backwards

Oh no, there you go again you've got some boy to do your biddin Don't lie, don't think I don't know that you've got secrets you keep hidden

Sweep for me Weep for me Cry like nice birds

How long before you heal that pain How long before you kill that vein How long before you see that train's going backwards Going backwards Going backwards
