Dream Theater, The Mirror

Temptation
Why won't you leave me alone?
Lurking every corner, everywhere I go

Self Control
Don't turn your back on me now
When I need you the most

Constant pressure tests my will My will or my won't My self control escapes from me still...

Hypocrite How could you be so cruel And expect my faith in return?

Resistance Is not as hard as it seems When you close the door

I spent so long trusting in you I trust you forgot Just when I thought I believed in you...

"What're you doing? What're you doing?"

It's time for me to deal
Becoming all too real
Living in fear
Why did you lie and pretend?
This has come to an end
I'll never trust you again
It's time you made your amends
Look in the mirror my friend

"That I haven't behaved as I should" "Everything you need is around you. The only danger is inside you."

"I thought you could control life, But it's not like that. There are things you can't control."

Let's stare the problem right in the eye It's plagued me from coast to coast Racing the clock to please everyone All but the one who matters the most

Reflections of reality
Are slowly coming into view
How in the hell could you possibly forgive me?
After all the hell I put you through

It's time for me to deal
Becoming all too real
Living in fear
Why'd I betray my friend?
Lying until the end
Living life so pretend
It's time to make my amends
I'll never hurt you again
