

Dropout Year, Confetti

As she tries to maintain her innocence, it's her word against theirs. with everything that they've said rumors consume her from the edge of her bed, out of the lips of her friends. and on the night before she's got some secrets she hoped they keep keeping, locked tightly behind closed doors. she's got she's the talk of the town since word got out that she's been around. and then her friends left her fo hormones raging, her heartbeat's racing. he slips her a drink and she slips in to bed. hormones rag she dug her own grave as her friends dished the dirt. she'd never say, but that hurt her the worst. t hormones raging, her heartbeat's racing. he slips her a drink and she slips in to bed. hormones rag
as she tries to maintain her innocence, it's her word against theirs. with everything that they've said