

Drowning Fish, Hanging On

I remember being happy
I remember feeling young
Whats happening to those days
I feel like theyre all gone
You know, I remember all those cool spring mornings
Hanging out with my friends
Feeling good, like a teenager should
And laughing at something one of us just said
Now things are changing, and I dont like it
But theres no turning back
Its so sad it had to end
But I guess I guess those are the facts

Where did all those days go
What happened to what I knew
Was I left behind
Everyday, I think back to
Ill never forget you
And the best days of my life

The bell rang, were off for break
There she was, standing in the crowd
Homecoming game, will you be my date
I cant believe Im driving and allowed

Summer break, three months of total rampage
Get on your bike, Ill meet you at the park
You wont believe whos in my fourth period
Wheres my teachers reasoning
Ill meet you here at lunch

Where did all those days go
What happened to what I knew
What happened to my life
I wish I could go back to
Ill never forget you
In life

Im on a very long bridge
But from the middle of it
Nothing seems far
But it only goes one way
Better get on my way
But for now, Im hanging on
