Dry Kill Logic, Track 13

And I will say what's on my mind If I can find my way from here Or I will stay a fallen man If I can't find my where from here

Zero nothing and then left to die Could I have everything here with no surprise? Would I? Turn back the changes, and yet we try, abandon all abandon all on the inside

Now I see the light

And I will say what's on my mind If I can find my way from here Or I will stay a fallen man If I can't find my where from here

Zero nothing and then left to die Could I have everything here with no surprise? Would I? Turn back the changes, and yet we try, should I abandon all abandon all that is mine Never again will I walk the line, more than spirits inside they're no friend of mine this is the same name I can't come to grips with it, and now I feel, and now I feel dismissed

Now I see the light