

Dual Core, Rule Them All

I want you to tell me how I keep myself out of hell's reach crushin whole hordes with the army at helm's deep

Spit stain, this is int's way
I'm searching for first light on the fifth day

Plus my delay has got a little capture for gandolf the gray to bring life rapture

Shire-retired, this is my pasture and if you didn't catch it then rewind faster

Seperate words from the sentence itself
I pack double meanings like bread from the elves

Arrest the development (see what i mean (handcuffs locking)) my hydrogen element seperates the fellowship

A long way from home, the measurement's evident the carrier's barriers impress the impediment

See what I'm saying - hear for three cheers they ransacked the forest, peers of tree beard

The ultimate warrior that I'm marching on body slam Bilbo and supplex Sauromon

Western riders passed the black gate but can't find their way through the path of that maze

Never been foolish, true until the fall
ONE brings / ONE king / one ring to rule em all

(Nah, not me (pencil writing)) check your score card twelve elven rangers sniping your force hard

I(h) floorboard a warlord with plenty of more swords stored up at sourceforge

Long walk, signed for a short tour return of the king, army from the north shore

I scorch the corridor with more force for the orcish horde to torture Mordor

Plant you in middle earth coming from the balcony when I pile drive you up from the fourth floor

The eye of Sauron checks us for the nexus the string behind the ring that barely holds the necklace

My death penalty is wreckless from the shire to Gondor, Rohan, and Texas

My guess is excess never tell forbidden hell to repel the elves' temptress