

Dual Core, Try Space

My friend's got a friend who's about my age one day popped up on my Myspace page

No real reason, it was fate I guess sent me a message and a friend request

She liked my style and she wanted to talk or meet some place, maybe go for a walk

We went to a flick, starrin' it will Smith came out the movie and we started to kiss

Jumped into dating, started out-pacing it was all good, things were amazing

Late night talks we had to share smiles leaving cute comments all over our profiles

It was so different like day, night, and fog even had people subscribe to my blog

All the same, my place, her place both number one in our top eight friend space

You know what I'm saying?

She liked the wild style
She liked the wild style

We're still doing well for as good as it seems but we constantly argue the stupidest things

Insignificant, it really depends I don't want a break, I'm just thinking a bend

Might sound weird, but I'm seeing a trend let's keep hangin' out, I just wanna be friends

(Whoops!) that did it, let it begin her lid blew off from the pressure within (aaaahh!) I don't mean in an emotional way think Mt. Saint Helens, I'm talkin' Pompeii

I just wanted space, she won't leave me alone posting mad comments and calling my phone

No way to shake her, she's stuck in a zone waiting at my house every time I come home

Re-straining order from the court is complete the radius for *my*space is 500 feet

How did this happen?

She got the wild style
She got the wild style

No restraint from the order I tried can't sit in my house without her looking inside

Spying on me like there's something to hide but she takes off quick before the cops arrive

Plus the court order isn't helping my pride it's not like I'm dealing with a felony crime

Ruining my chances with girls that I like to be my own person and live my own life

Penalties, arguments, growing so mad referees blowing and throwing a yellow flag

It's gotta end now, no time to play out nothing is working to find a way out

She just needs a guy so that I'm replaced I set her up fast with a friend on myspace

She's hooked up now, I checked the guesswork and made sure dood was in extended network

Haha, yeah

I got the wild style
I got the wild style