

Dubstar, My Start In Wallsend

I haven't sung in years and shown I've meant it they'll play the tune and my gestures are empty but my eyes are open every word is true
But then it's a big thing at the chemist together you take my heart and describe it in letters every checkout girl can see us everyone knows our names Take my hand
We're leaving now Understand I need you, and I've seen the world's impatient spent so much time deceiving and why?
I know the future's waiting spent so much time in hiding Why?
No more waiting
Let's go
