Ducky Boys, Break Me

You set a standard you aren't man enough to keep
You preached of honesty but your words are so empty
You look into my life and you just wanted it all
Don't come to us for pity now because the pity is all gone

You will never ever break me
You knocked me down, I got back up
You will never ever break me
You had your shot, you're not the one

You're such a snake to me, a liar till the end
I was so blind to think you ever were my friend
All your pathetic pleas don't amount to shit
You can lie to everyone but you won't avoid my fist

You will never ever break me
You knocked me down, I got back up
You will never ever break me
You had your shot, you're not the one

I see you pull the string
But you won't throw your burden onto me

You will never ever break me
You knocked me down, I got back up
You will never ever break me
You had your shot, you're not the one

You will never ever break me
You knocked me down, I got back up
You will never ever break me
You had your shot, you're not the one
You had your shot, you're not the one
You had your shot, you're not the one
You had your shot, you're not the one
