

Duct Tape, Tear Me Up

Gone on for too long i'm done writing songs so what i'm i still doing here with the same fear of wanting you back back into my arms like that time just two I Should have kissed you so now that i know that it was all fake

i guess its the end of the line still i'll be just fine fine enough to start a life with someone better than you
its fool proof

i hope you know i loved you more than you will ever know
below

i died inside
when you didn't come running to my door i should have done more

so now that i know that it was all fake
i guess its the end of the line
still i'll be just fine
fine enough to start a life
with someone better than you
its fool proof

so tear me up and throw me out don't be afraid toss my heart about the strands of your hair i always did care

our relationship
i was proudly it and proudly dropping out
its fool proof