

Duhks, You And I

It looks to me like nothing much has changed
I know the past is history
But if this really is a brand new game
How come you're looking down on me?
Brother can't you see
What the future is bringing?
In a world like this
How can we live together?

Chorus:
You and I
Are really just the same
Though you might think
You're a little bit better
And when you fall

Don't look for me to blame
You hold the key
For the higher you think of me
Then the better your world will be
The higher you think of me
Sometimes I think I see a hint of blue
But right now my sky is dark and grey
Just when I think I'm getting through to you
You carry on the same old way
Brother can't you see
It's just you you're deceiving?
All the games you play
Couldn't stop me believing
Repeat chorus
