

Dum Dums, Travelling At Speed

I woke up in a sweat last night
I realised I'd chosen my life
And the cleanliness drove me over the edge
At the supermarket where no one existed

Claustrophobic hairspray, absolute sense of no control
And my heart beats faster than revolving planets
Like a renegade satellite tripping on the canvas

Walking down to the video store
Out of time before the stars expire
I see it clearly as I'm gathering speed
I've never felt alive like this
Over the airwaves calling me home
Transmitting they will never give up
I'm at the point of no return now
It's the place I could never go back

I think I'm in too deep
Travelling at speed
Falling like a moon out of orbit (x2)

The world's so photogenic everything just turns me on
To the reality the life that I've chosen
I've chosen the wrong one
I'm imagining the look on their faces
When everyone seems so pure
And I've done the unthinkable
The thing they said I never could do

Something eating at the pit of my chest
Adrenaline overwhelming my thoughts
Feels like I'm overheating
Somehow I'm still gathering speed
Over the airwaves calling me home
Transmitting they will never give up
I'm at the point of no return now
It's the place I could never go back, yeah

I think I'm in too deep
Travelling at speed
Falling like a moon out of orbit (x4)

At the bottom of the river, cheating death but for how long
I love you, I just couldn't, ocean goes on and on (x2)

I think I'm in too deep
Travelling at speed
Falling like a moon out of orbit (x2)
