

Dunnery Francis, Whoever Brought Me Here

Who brought me here to this world so long ago?
Who shaped my young face and welded my bones?
Who watered my hair and twisted my nose?
I need a light to see where I'm going
So whoever brought me here will have to take me home.
I heard a voice in my head the other day
It wasn't my voice 'cause I don't have much to say
"Better get direction or you might have a fall"
I need a light to see where I'm going
Whoever brought me here will have to take me home.
Freedom leaks from your every pore
You'll find free if you give him a go
The sticker that your mother pinned to your head
Should've been exploded a long time ago
Magic moves in mysterious ways
Mystery lives in the energy waves
Energy lives in the back of your mind
A higher vibration you will climb
If you're 64.5 FM you'll see 64.5 FM
you'll see bugs in your walls struggling souls trapped in a life of winner takes all
If you're 98.2 FM you'll see 98.2 FM
you'll see banquet halls and nature calls
You'll be free in a world of friends
I found myself inside a big cocoon
I thought I was toilet but I'm living room
8 brand new batteries make a much bigger smile
I need a light to see where I'm going
Whoever brought me here will have to take me home.
