

Duo Cartoonist, Trust In me, child

You want to change the events ahead for you dread what you've just seen through the glass so if you pay the price and you make a deal with me.

The day she takes her final breath will never come to pass..

You can trust in me
I'm not as bad, as you've been told You'll find I'm rather fair to save your sister, you need to sign the scroll

I understand you have your reservations not knowing what I'll ask from you it's reason to think twice but I give you my word, you both will be safe and sound although you'll soon learn magic never comes without a price

You can trust in me
I'm not as bad, as you recall You'll find I'm quite sincere To change your future you have to risk it all
