

Dynamite Boy, Long Since Forgotten

Outsiders beware
The wound is ripping open she doesn't seem to care a symphony of lies it bars her every moment melting her disguise
she won't live through the night (won't live through the night)
or make it one more day (make it one more day)
she knew it all along
the right is never wrong
departure possible
long since forgotten
she'll never say goodbye

a bottle in her hand of pills and amber liquor junky wonderland
the devil's on the rise you wanna see the heavens but deeply in my eyes
she won't live through the night (won't live through the night)
or make it one more day
(make it one more day)
she knew it all along
the right is never wrong
departure possible
long since forgotten
she'll never say goodbye

sleep it all away absolution she now becomes everything she hates her warm welcome, overstayed
she won't live through the night
(won't live through the night)
or make it one more day
(make it one more day)
she knew it all along
the right is never wrong
departure possible
long since forgotten
she'll never say goodbye
she'll never say goodbye
(goodbye)
she'll never say goodbye
(goodbye)
(bye, bye)
(goodbye)