Dysrider, Witness Our Fall

Your passenger is here Creeping inside you Waiting to be released Slowly eroding yourself

You came out of nowhere You tried to wear me down Tried to blind me, to stop me Tried to bury me in despair

You took so many shapes Hid yourself behind dark names You allowed my fear to be real Even though I know I created you

Dear passenger This is your time But I won't run away

Here forever I'm gonna stand And witness our fall

Sly thing, behind the skin There is no scar this time You shatter from the inside Crawl from your hole to be set free

Dear passenger This is your time But I won't run away

Here forever I'm gonna stand And witness our fall

You may come back one day My failure will be your break But I'll stand and to your face I will scream my resilience

Dear passenger This is your time But I won't run away

Here forever I'm gonna stand And witness our fall Witness our fall!
